According to the Big Indonesian Dictionary (KBBI), marketing is a method or process to market a product. The success of doing business in marketing is influenced by two factors, namely the product market and the consumer market. The consumer market will get a variety of brands. One of the communications made by producers to consumers is advertising. Advertising in the modern era is the usual use of social media. The effectiveness of advertising can be measured using 3 criteria, namely: sales, remembrance and persuasion. The effectiveness of advertising by selling can be seen with research on the impact of sales, the impact of communication can have something to do with the effectiveness of advertising (Premita Lesawati, 2016). So the notion of marketing is an activity that takes advantage of the sales factor to bring in consumers, maintain good relationships and increase sales so that transactions that occur can be continuously and always connected to each other.

A. E-Marketing

E-Marketing (Electronic Marketing) according to (Tjiptono, 2016) is a strategic process, developing, distributing, promoting, and setting prices for goods and services in target markets via the internet or digital devices such as smartphones. At this time e-marketing is one of the promotional media that is considered effective and efficient, especially digital products, such as music, videos and the like. The growth of internet use in Indonesia in 2017 according to a survey from the Association of Indonesian Internet Service Users (APJII) in 2017 as shown in Figure 2. 143.26 million users which means an increase from 2016 which reached 132.7 million users from the total population of Indonesia's current population has reached 262 million people. This means that the growth penetration of internet users in Indonesia in 2017 was 54.68% compared to 2016 which was 51.03%.

The increasing number of internet users in Indonesia has a huge impact on companies. Many companies have made changes with the marketing of their business, so that products easily reach the hands of the public. The company seeks to accelerate the distribution process by utilizing the internet as a means used to market and sell its products. This is because the internet network can connect computer users from one place to another in various parts of the world. Internet, which stands for internet and networking, is a collection of computer networks that communicate with each other from various types of computer networks (Dewi, Nugraha, 2017). Above, we have explained several types of online marketing, including e-marketing, video marketing, social media marketing. The three types of online marketing have in common that they use the same media, namely the internet. The difference between the three types of online marketing is that e-marketing uses email as a tool to disseminate product information, video marketing uses video, for example YouTube, avlog, while social media used for marketing uses social media as a means of marketing products, social media include Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, WhatsApp, and online. With these differences, each type of online marketing will have its advantages and disadvantages. Of the three types of online marketing, social media marketing is the type often used by companies to market their products.
Social media is a form of online marketing that uses the latest technology created by humans. Social media has several advantages, especially in its ability to communicate in two ways that are interactive, and make it easier for users to access various kinds of information. Marketing through social media (social media marketing) is a form of direct or indirect marketing to build awareness, and action for a brand or brand, business, person, or other entity and is done using tools from the social web, such as blogging, microblogging, social networking, social bookmarking, and content (Gunelius, 2011). Several social media that can be used like Facebook have.

Effectiveness is a measure that states how far the target (quantity, time and quality) has been achieved by management, where the target has been determined in advance. Marketing media that can be run by companies are now widely available and complete, these media can be selected by companies to market their products. With these many choices, companies can choose several media that can be used, or even a Literature Study of Product Marketing Effectiveness by Using an Online Marketing System using all of these media. Some of these media include Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, line, and others. How effective is the use of these media for the success of the company's online marketing. Several studies, including Prisma Lisawati, were conducted to test the effectiveness of advertising through social networks as a marketing strategy for UKMa products using the EPIC method (Empathy, Persuasion, Impact, Communication).

The results of the study show that the strategy for marketing product advertisements through social networks is very effective. The analytical tool was then developed by A.C. Nielsen, which is in the form of an EPIC model, consists of the following four dimensions: The empathy dimension informs whether consumers like a form of marketing communication and describes how consumers see the relationship between a form of marketing communication and their personal. The persuasion dimension informs what a form of marketing communication can provide to strengthen the character of a brand, so that marketers gain an understanding of the impact of marketing communication on consumers' desire to buy. (Prisma Lisawati, 2017).

Companies are required to provide complete information about products, be able to lure consumers well, and be able to serve well (Kotler, 2017). One of the good communication tools at this point is the internet network that companies can take full advantage of. To be able to establish good communication with consumers, companies must be able to see the profile of the competition that is happening. The competition profile includes: 1. Who will compete today or in the future, 2. How do business competitors work, and what abilities do they have to encourage them to achieve, 3. How does each competitor place their position in the market, the last one is what competition is based on. (Hermawan Kertajaya, 2000). By knowing this profile, the communication that the company runs through online marketing will be successful in influencing consumers to buy its products. In addition, companies in carrying out communication should convey information clearly. Because the clear information factor has an influence on consumers to buy products offered by producers.

This is in line with the results of research conducted by Nia Purwati and her friends, who found that there was a strong influence between the clarity of information and the consumer's decision to buy online. Some of the media that can be used to run online marketing include Facebook, IG, and Twitter. If we look at the media Facebook as an online marketing tool, it has a strong enough dominance to run online marketing effectively. According to 2014 data, Facebook's monthly active use has now passed the 1.19 billion mark. Of these, 874 million of them access Facebook from mobile devices (Ita Suryani, 2014). With 126 Teguh Suriptoas the increasing number of Facebook users, it will provide convenience for companies to market their products. As time goes by, Instagram can be used to run online marketing. The data shows that there are 1 billion active Instagram users. (Kompas.com). This number is still below Facebook, but the ability of millennials Instagram is also good, because many young people are now more interested in using Instagram than Facebook. By knowing what the user profile is, the use of online marketing for the company will run effectively.
